RAILROAD QUESTION BOTHERS

PUTNAMVILLE MEN WHO HAVE BEEN IN CONFERENCE WITH STATE PENAL FARM COMMISSION MEMBERS STATE THAT THEIR PROPOSITION IS NOT YET IN THE SHAPE DESIRED.

WILL NOT DISCUSS QUESTION

Although the Putnamville men who were in Indianapolis Wednesday and Thursday have agreed not to be interviewed on the situation regarding the Putnamville site for the State Penal Farm, it was stated by one of them that they had not yet been able to meet the requirements of the commission, concerning the railroad facilities.

This requirement, it is said, is that the Putnamville people secure right of ways to the site from each the Monon and Vandalia lines. Each railroad, it is said, has refused to build the switches desired, and the state is proposing to build them itself, provided the owners of the land offered will secure a right-of-way at no additional expense to the state.

Members of the Putnamville committee returned to Greencastle Thursday afternoon. When questioned regarding the situation they stated that the Putnamville representatives had agreed to keep the action of the state commission secret.

The Greencastle committee members have had no communications from the state commission for several days. Whether the local site has been "passed up" as undesirable or not, is not known.

The Indianapolis News of Thursday printed several views of the proposed Putnamville site, which were accompanied by the following story, under a Putnamville date line:

PUTNAMVILLE, Ind., April 16.—The site that probably will be selected for Indiana's penal farm is in a part of Hoosierdom that is famous for natural beauty. It is crowded with hills of limestone and valleys that are rich in fertility. The eastern line of the proposed penal farm is one mile west of old Putnamville, on the National road. The tract covers more than one thousand five hundred acres, crossed by Deer creek and several smaller streams such as are numerous in a hilly country.

Putnamville is a village of 150 inhabitants, five miles south of Greencastle on the Monon railroad. Back in the days when stage coaches rumbled overland from Cumberland, Md., to St. Louis, by way of the National road, Putnamville was a prosperous station on the line. It then had a famous tavern, long since destroyed by fire. Travelers were glad when the stage halted before its door for the night. But, like all of Putnamville's old glory, it is only a thing of memory now. The village came into existence in 1831, and it seemed to the founders that Putnamville would become a great stone center. But somehow the dream did not come true. Today the old place stretches along the pike, its walls probably be selected for the penal farm spread over the hills and valleys like wildfire. The little telephone exchange on the corner was kept busy for hours connecting wires for neighbor and friend that the news might be borne along. Putnamville expects the new penal farm, if it is established here, to make the old village glow with new life, for it will bring many people to the place. They will see the prisoners coming and going. The friends of the prisoners will wander in and out on the permitted periodical visits. Sightseers will come and go and Putnamville will thrive on the nickels and dimes they spend. It may mean, too, that Putnamville again will become a postoffice town instead of a mere village on the Greencastle rural route. Putnamville has a thousand dreams of the prosperity the state's penal farm will bring to it if the Putnam county site is finally chosen.

The proposed penal farm site is entered by way of the National road. A good stone highway, it winds up into the hills and has several roads crossing it or serving as tributaries. The National road crosses it from east to west. The Rocky Ford road, its principal tributary, runs north and south by winding ways and reaches into the fertile Deer creek valley. Deer creek winds in and out among the hills and is one of the most beautiful of Indiana's streams. The creek, when at normal height, has a peculiar greenish cast, the result of its contact with limestone and other rock substances along its path. The township has just completed a new iron bridge across Deer creek near the farm of M. L. Lucas, which is included in the proposed penal farm.

Most of the land included in the tract is south of the National road. The David Skelton stone quarries, regarded by the commission as making the site more desirable, is immediately south of the pike. It will be easy to transport crushed stone by wagon by way of this highway. Another important consideration is the close proximity of the Monon and Vandalia railroads. The railroads running east and west, has its main line within five-eighths of a mile of the proposed penal farm. The Monon, running tangent from the probable site. Both of these roads will have switches running into the farm if this site is decided on, thus affording good shipping facilities in all directions. The railroad switches will pass through farms not included in the proposed site.

A good view of practically the entire site is to be had from the crest of the Albert Layman farm. The Layman house stands on a high hill and on clear days, it is possible to see for miles in an almost complete circle. This point will serve well for observation of the prisoners at work in the fields. There are other eminences on the tract that will give the officers of the penal farm a view of wide range. There are several ravines that are heavily timbered and these probably will be cleared. The Layman farm contains considerable timber along its uplands. This, too, will be of good service in the construction of buildings and fences. The three quarries on the Skelton farm will provide good working material for the prisoners quarters on the farm. The quarries formerly belonged to the Putnamville Stone Company, a Terre Haute corporation, but were found unprofitable because of their distance from the railroad. The state, however, will have two switches for a quarry outlet in case it decides on the site.

DEATH CLAIMS JOHN SWEENEY

HEART DISEASE CAUSES DEATH OF PROMINENT PUTNAM COUNTY FARMER AT HIS HOME IN MADISON TOWNSHIP THURSDAY NIGHT—STRICKEN AT 6 O'CLOCK AND LIVED UNTIL 9 O'CLOCK.

WAS BORN IN THE COUNTY

Stricken at about 6 o'clock Thursday evening, just after having completed a day's work on his farm, John Sweeney, age 84, one of Putnam county's best known respected farmers, passed away at his home in Madison township Thursday evening at 8:45 o'clock.

Mr. Sweeney was stricken with an attack of heart trouble soon after returning to his home after a day's work. From the first his illness was serious and he lived only a few hours.

In all Putnam county there perhaps was not a more respected and beloved man than John Sweeney. Born and reared in Greencastle township, he had lived in the county all of his life excepting a few years which he spent in Illinois. He has devoted his life to agriculture and stock raising and had been most successful in the pursuit of these industries.

A ardent Democrat in politics, he has always been a supported of the beliefs of his party. Although never a candidate for office he had been a faithful party worker. In his advanced years he had never allowed himself to lose interest in local and national politics.

Mr. Sweeney had been married three times. He leaves to mourn his loss a widow and seven children. The children are Mrs. Lizzie Jones of Quincy, Mrs. Maggie Smith of Cloverdale, H. D. Sweeney of Harvey, Ill., Mrs. Emma Bradshaw of Indianapolis, Andrew Sweeney, who resides south of Greencastle, Mrs. Daisy Eldridge of Volga, S. D., and Mrs. Samuel Colglazier of Quincy, Ind.

The funeral of Mr. Sweeney will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Long Branch Church.

In speaking of a trip of the Governor of Arkansas over the state of Arkansas in a special train, the Arkansas Democrat, published in Little Rock, says: "Geo. W. Rogers, chairman of the executive committee of the excursion, desires it to be understood that tickets for the trip are issued only as the checks are received, and that the amount is $30, and for railroad officials who have transportation the charge is $17.25."

ROBERTS IS HIT BY MRS. SMITH

WIFE OF CONFESSED BALLOT MARKER REPEATS STORY WHICH WAS FACTOR IN RECENT CONVICTION OF WILLIAM HUFFMAN—WITNESSES ASSERT MEMBER OF MAYOR'S "BUNCH" TORE UP REPUBLICAN POLL BOOK AND KNOCKED WOMAN DOWN.

DELVE INTO 1910 ELECTION

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 16.—

Startling charges of crimes against the ballot were made today by witnesses called by the state in the trial of Mayor Donn M. Roberts, charged with conspiracy to commit election and registration frauds. The afternoon session proved one of the most damaging for the defense since the confessions of the chauffeurs who said they were hired by Roberts to put "floaters" about for false registrations.

Mrs. Grover C. Smith, at whose home on North Fourteenth street the group of confessed election corruptionists met the night before the last city election and marked 158 ballots to be cast the next day, was on the witness stand. Mrs. Smith repeated the story she told in the trial of William Huffman, convicted recently, and detailed the frauds committed by her husband, Dr. E. T. Zaring, Alonzo Helmick, Edward Whistler, James Harris and John Page. She told of attending a conference with the attorneys of William A. Huffman and of the relatives coaching her "not to know anything" when she was called by the court as a witness, and concluded her story by saying that she knew that William Huffman gave her husband, Grover C. Smith, money with which to buy her some new shoes.

Tells of Ballot Hiding.

Mrs. Edward Whistler told of her husband's going away the night before election and returning about 2 o'clock the next morning; of his telling her that he had helped mark ballots at the home of Grover Smith; how her husband and John Page brought the packages of marked ballots to her home the next morning and put them in the baby's trunk and of Mr. Whistler's coming again on the afternoon of election day and taking away the marked ballots.

Mrs. Whistler then told of her husband's being summoned to appear before the grand jury. She said she told Mr. Whistler: "You must go before the grand jury and if you do not tell the truth I will go there and tell what I know."

The testimony of Mrs. Whistler was made more impressive when Attorney Slinkard for the defense sought to bring out the impression that the witnesses' memory was faulty.

One Night Remembered. Questioned regarding the whereabouts of her husband on other nights than the night on which the frauds were committed at the home of Grover Smith, Mrs. Whistler could not recall. Asked why she remembered particularly about the night before the election, Mrs. Whistler replied: "When he told me where he had been I knew he had been doing wrong. That is why I can remember."

The examination of A. A. Wolf and Joseph Carter, who took a poll of Precinct D of the Seventh Ward prior to the last city election, resulted in a hot legal battle between Attorneys Inman and Slinkard on one side and Prosecutor Roach. Judge Harris and Charles Whitlock on the other. When Mr. Wolf testified that he had participated as a Republican party worker in all the elections since he had lived in Terre Haute, Attorney Inman asked on cross-examination whether he did not know it to be a fact that Judge J. T. Walker had taken naturalization papers to that precinct in the campaign of 1904 and given them out from a curbstone. The witness emphatically denied the assertion.

Opens Way for State.

Cross-examination regarding tactics employed in that precinct in other campaigns opened the way for introduction by the state of evidence intended to show Donn Roberts' connection with alleged crooked work in the Twelve Points precinct in 1910.

Wolf testified that Roberts had

WILL BEGIN DRILLING FOR OIL AT CATARACT

Drilling will begin near Cataract on the old Simpson farm this week. Charles Gray of Cataract has leased 500 acres and spent some time and money in correspondence and finally interested Indianapolis and Chicago parties who were willing to invest. The Chicago man had a friend in New York who would take a few shares if it looked favorable.

Two weeks ago five of these men went to Cataract to see what kind of a proposition Mr. Gray had to offer them. After looking over the location they were willing to invest if more land could be leased, and Mr. Gray and Mrs. Stoltz, of Lebanon, leased 3,000 acres and took options on 2,500 acres.

The stockholders held a meeting at Lebanon last week and the Boone Oil & Gas Co., was formed with a capital stock of $5,000, fully paid up. The directors are J. W. Shelby, John E. Riley and Morris Richey.

Mr. Gibbons, of Indianapolis, will have charge of the drilling. The machinery has been shipped and is expected to be in Cataract this week. The company will drill four test wells immediately. There is great excitement around Cataract.—Spencer Democrat.

Died Five Minutes Too Soon.

The funeral of Chas. Montgomery, who was run down and instantly killed by a fast interurban freight car last week, was held at the Baptist church on Saturday morning and the church was unable to hold all who desired to be in attendance. Mr. Montgomery had taken out $150.00 accident insurance a few days before his death and had received his certificate just the day before, but the company claims that his death occurred just five minutes before his policy began. He was killed at 1:55 and his insurance began at 12 o'clock, and for this reason his family will be cut out of the benefits of the insurance.—Cotatesville Herald.

The revival services at the Christian church of this city which were conducted by the pastor, Rev. A. M. Hootman, for three weeks closed last night with a great meeting. A large congregation was present for the service.

A LETTER FROM THE MISSISSIPPI DELTA.

[By Rome Dietrick.]

♦ ♦ ♦ ♦ ♦

Scott, Miss.

April 4, 1914.

Editor of The Herald:—

Six months ago I left Greencastle to spend the winter in the South. After traveling over the states of Arkansas, Tennessee and Mississippi, I have found the garden spot of the South which is the Mississippi Delta. This delta is noted for its fertility and at present time is the heart of the cotton country. As you know, some three years ago the "Bowl Wivel" appeared in Texas and Louisiana, and since that time has advanced north at the rate of about 50 miles a year. In passing, I might say, this is the first and only insect, that the United States Government has been unable to find anything that would stop, in its work of destruction. Since the appearance of this "insect," plantations have gone to destruction and all of the fine farm land south of the delta is laying idle awaiting the time when they can go back to the raising of cotton.

The people here have got into that rut of their forefathers; that is to raise one crop and that cotton; and if a failure comes they are up against a hard proposition.

A few years ago northern men with northern capital came here and with them they brought the "energy of men." Since a great many southern planters have adopted the methods of the north, and by following these have made a great success in raising corn, clover, alfalfa and oats. Now each plantation tries to raise enough grain to feed their stock the year round; when before they had it shipped for grain producing states.

In the last few years many corporations have been formed for the purpose of raising cotton on a large scale. The largest of these companies is called the Mississippi Delta Planting company, having their head office at Memphis, Tenn., while the bulk of the stock is owned by English capital. To give you a few fact of the size of this place, there are (42,000) forty-two thousand acres in this tract. It is located ten miles above Greenville, Miss., and lies along the Mississippi for nearly twenty miles; it ranges from four (4) to seven (7) miles wide and has twenty-two thousand (22,000) acres in cultivation. This place is divided into seventeen (17) plantations, each having a manager and assistant.

On the entire place there are eight hundred (800) head of mules and some thirty-five head of fine saddle horses.

The county of Scott is owned by the company here. They have their large cash store, their office, supply store, grain ware house, blacksmith shop, cotton seed oil mill, saw mill and houses marked by an ancient tone that makes them appear as etchings in the twilight.

There is one main street to Scott which is called Plank Row. Here the store men and the "Scott office" men live. A large hotel is maintained for the single fellows—like myself. We are a community of our own. We have our social times and in a few hours can get all the people needed for a dance or any kind of an entertainment. The company has a fine hall furnished with a pianola piano, which is used for the pleasure of its employees. On the entire place there are possibly two hundred white people and at least five thousand negroes.

This is the largest cotton plantation in the world and in 1913 raised seventy-seven hundred bales of cotton each weighing five hundred pounds.

On this place we have two kinds of labor, day hands and crop hands. The day hands get paid each week, and ne buys his own supplies, while the crop hand raises his own crop, on the land of the company and when his crop is gathered, the cotton is bought by the company and applied to his account until he is square with them. After that he is paid cash for the balance of his crop. We expect to grow 10,000 bales for our 1914 crop. Our corn is up and we will start planting cotton April 14th. This is a delightful place to live and a better place to make money. Hunting during the winter months can't be beat and fishing in Lake Bolivar on our place is the best in the state. We catch as high as seventy pounds a day and ten pounds is only a few hours troling. Big mouth bass, black bass and white perch or croppies are the most plentiful.

I am located in the main store of Scott and will be glad to make arrangements for lodging and fishing for any of the Greencastle boys. I will be glad to hear from any of them.

Yours truly,

ROME DIETRICK.

Grant to Drive Sunbeam.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 16.—

Harry Grant, two-time winner of the Vanderbilt cup, has been entered in the next Indianapolis five-hundred-mile race at the wheel of a Sunbeam, by William Ziegler, the New York millionaire. The car is the same that overturned while in the lead during the Grand Prize at Santa Monica recently, Marquis driving. It is rapidly being put in shape, it is stated, and will be in prime condition for the contest.

Grant expects to make a non-stop run of the race, if he can, the light weight of his car, and the smallness of its motor, placing this entirely within the realm of possibility. Fuel enough will be taken on for the entire grind, so that tires promises to be the only unknown factor in Grant's equation. Even these, however, he figures will stick with him to the finish, because of the light avoirdupois they will have to carry.

The advent of the famous American puts the Sunbeam into the running with a vengeance, another car of that make already being nominated, with Chassagne, holder of the world's hour record, at the wheel. With two such noted drivers, the English machines are expected to make the rest sit up and take notice.

The speedway entry list has now attained a total of twenty-two, with but eight more needed to fill. These, it is thought, will be forthcoming in the next few days.

Insurance Policies Expensive.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 16.—

Speedway racing is exactly two thousand times as dangerous as ordinary means of livelihood, according to actuaries engaged in figuring rates of premium for drivers in the next Indianapolis five-hundred-mile contest.

Pilots of Stutz cars were thus compelled to pay $350 each for policies of $10,000, covering the practice period of two weeks and the day of the race. Inasmuch as the total number of hours they will spend on the course during this time will not exceed twenty-four, or a period of two days, it will be seen that their rate is the colossal one of 65.625 per cent.

The ordinary figure is .003, estimated on the basis of a five dollar premium for $1500 insurance for one year.

Shubert Murat Theatre, Indianapolis.

A dramatic event of more than passing importance will be the appearance next week at the Shubert Murat Theatre in Indianapolis of Miss May Robinson, America's premier comedienne, for four days, beginning Wednesday. Miss Robinson is starring in James Forbes' newest comedy success, "The Clever Woman." The name of May Robson at once recalls her great former comedy success "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary," which enjoyed long runs on both sides of the Atlantic. The story Mr. Forbes tells is a human one—human because it is happening every day in big American cities. It is the history of the trials, tribulations and triumphs of the newly rich family which comes on to New York from the Middle West and tries to buy high social position. Upon the capable shoulders of Emily Lamson, wife of the new millionaire, falls the task of guiding her high-strung family through the wiles of New York—the New York that opens its gates to the newly rich arrival from the West, or anywhere else. In this role, Miss Robinson shows what may be accomplished by a woman with ready wit, a native sense of humor and much determination. She succeeds and how she succeeds by twisting the other members of the family about her little finger without their knowing they are being twisted, will give pointers in domestic economy to many wives and mothers. When the only son whom the fond father has planned to marry to a society butterfly, elopes with dad's secretary, it is Emily Lamson, who like the good soldier, he is, steps into the breach and turns frowns to smiles. In elegance of production, "The Clever Woman" is second to no dramatic offering of the season. The famous comedienne has been surrounded by a remarkably well-balanced cast which includes Paul Decker, Burr Caruth, Evelyn Varden, Edith Conrad, Geraldine Griffith, Kathryn Clarendon and Roy Ardmore.

When Robert Hanna, Otto Mecum, Robert Allen, Clifford Allen and Orville Hixon left Greencastle Thursday afternoon in Mr. Hanna's car for Lafayette, they intended seeing the game between DePauw and Purdue and then returning to Greencastle. They found the roads in excellent condition, however, and reached Lafayette in less than 2 hours driving time. After witnessing the defeat of DePauw they ate their suppers and decided to drive to Frankfort, the home of Mr. Mecum's mother. It was 6:30 o'clock when they left Lafayette. From Frankfort they drove to Lebanon and from Lebanon to Indianapolis. After resting two hours in Indianapolis they left there at 12 o'clock for home arriving here at 1:30 o'clock. In all the boys drove 175 miles.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS

TAXES ARE HIGHER THIS YEAR!

Many will question the amount of their taxes and ask concerning their personal property assessments and land appraisement. Mistakes will occur where the assessment of property and the extending and collecting of taxes are done by as many different officers.

The Treasurer and Auditor will cheerfully correct all mistakes for which they are responsible and the county assessor will explain the assessment of personal property and where possible adjust if in error.

Taxes are due Jan. 1 and payable at this office in full, or at the option of the taxpayer, one-half including road taxes, on or before the first Monday in May, 1914, (being the fifth day) and the remaining one-half on or before the first Monday in November, 1914. Road tax receipts must be presented on or before the first Monday in May or they will not be credited, as the law requires that the road tax be included in the first installment only.

If the first installment of taxes is not paid within the limit set by law the taxes for the entire year become due and delinquent and with penalty is extended by the Auditor and charged to the Treasurer. The state is interested in this extension and the Auditor and Treasurer are both personally liable for any penalties that might be refunded.

Under no circumstances can the Treasurer alter the duplicate. He can make no reduction in taxes and he can not refund money once paid in. Errors must be corrected through the Auditor's office.

As the Treasurer can not know the location of each person's property, taxpayers should designate the property on which they wish to pay, and see that all property is included in their receipt. If they have land in more than one township or corporation, or desire to pay taxes on lands or lots not in their name, call the Treasurer's attention to the matter, carefully examine receipts, see if they describe all property (personal and real), and are otherwise correct before leaving the office, and if any errors are evident, have them corrected at once.

The Tax Duplicate is not a transfer book and when, for any year, the Tax Duplicate is made with reference to the property on the first day of March or said year, the duplicate remains forever unchanged as to showing of property and in whose names changes on the transfer books or prompt recording of deeds to the contrary notwithstanding.

Property will appear in same name for the payment of the second installment. Assignees, Guardians, Administrators and others who pay taxes on property in trust, and persons whose taxes are complicated, such as undivided estates, etc., are earnestly requested to settle such taxes before the last few days, as it requires considerable time to make divisions and separate receipts. Thus avoid mistakes which might happen during the rush of the last few days of taxpaying.

"All property, both Real and Personal, shall be liable for the payment of all taxes, penalties, interest and cost charged to the owner thereof in such county, and no partial payment of any such taxes, penalties, interest or costs, shall discharge or release any part or portion of such property until the whole is paid, which lien shall in no wise be effected or destroyed by any sale or transfer of any such personal property, and shall attach on the first day of April, annually for the taxes of such year."

From Section 173, Acts 1891.

All Ditch Taxes and Street Improvements must be called for separately.

The taxpayer often has personal property and poll assessed to him separately from his real estate especially when the land is in joint title and accordingly must have a receipt therefor.

Delinquent taxes must be paid before the current tax.

The Treasurer will not be responsible for penalties and charges on delinquent taxes, resulting from omission of the person paying such tax to state definitely on what property, in whose name and in what township or corporation it was assessed.

Very respectfully,

H. H. RUNYAN,

Treasurer Putnam County.

TAKE YOUR SHOPPING SERIOUSLY

It takes judgment to make family purse do its full measure of service in these days of high prices.

The wise woman takes her shopping seriously and spends her money carefully.

She seeks the best advice she can get, and nine times out of ten she finds it in the advertising columns of live newspapers like The Herald.

She reads the advertising daily and keeps posted on what the stores are showing. If some fortunate turn in the market presents an unusual opportunity she is ready to take advantage of it.

She markets as carefully and with as much knowledge of the situation as her husband would show if he were buying a piece of real estate.

Advertising is a business education to the modern woman. It is her ready reference book. She verifies the statements made in print from time to time and she soon becomes an expert on What's What and Who's Who.

I feel it is even more than you claim."

Letters like this come from all over the country. Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy produces results. The first dose proves it.

Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy cleans the digestive tract of mucous accretions and removes poisonous matter. It brings swift relief to sufferers from ailments of the stomach, liver and bowels. Many declare it has saved them from dangerous operations and many are sure it has saved their lives.

Hunter Chased by Giant Rabbit

Monster of Springs and Fur Glares With Awful Eyes at Heels of Rollo Rollins.

The fame of Rollo Rollins, of New Jersey, as a rabbit hunter, has lost much of its high eulogium, and the temporary truce between Rollo and Si Perkins is at an end. From Greenwood Lake Rollins has hurled down the hills a challenge to Perkins; a challenge to mortal or immortal combat, weapons to be ploughshares or anvils, to be hurled at three paces.

Perkins, however, is not manifesting any qualms over the challenge. Indeed, Si had been laughing steadily for sixteen hours when, at dawn next day, his cackling ululations could be heard in the four corners of the Gooseberry Confederacy.

It all came about in this manner: Rollo Rollins, knowing that Si Perkins couldn't hit a rabbit if it was tied to the muzzle of his gun, made friendly overtures to him, proposing a rabbit hunt in the Singac Hill district, above North Caldwell. It was the cunning aim of Rollo to take Si coming home with empty gamebag, while Rollo would fairly drip rabbits from every pocket.

While Rollo was cleaning his guns and tuning his dogs to the rabbit scent, Perkins was not idle. At Gus Mier's store he bought an extraordinary large rabbit. Not a live rabbit, but a rabbitified defunctus—in other words, a very dead rabbit. He carried the furry envelope of the animal to Dr. Faustus Lang, the Great Notch taxidermist. Dr. Lang stuffed said rabbitified defunctus until it bore the most lifelike semblance imaginable. Then, as a final touch, the taxidermist inserted two large green eyes—eyes above human size even, eyes that gleamed an shimmered and seemed to carry luminous beams of evil in their depths.

When the job was done Si Perkins carried the masterpiece to a jeweller and had watch-springs inserted in all four legs, also in the ears. The result of this was that the slightest jar caused startling animation.

With this ingenious implement, which he named Gustavus Adolphus, Si Perkins drove to Singac Hill. Perching Gustavus Adolphus in the most lifelike attitude on a little knoll, Perkins attached to its middle a coil of fine wire. He led this wire some distance away, making a slip noose at the end and laying it at just the point where he figured a hunter would take aim at the rabbit.

The next morning Si appeared at the Rollins gate, bright and early, his rusty old gun over his shoulder and his deaf and color-blind hunting dog at his heels.

The two hunters spent a full day in the fields and woods bordering Singac Hill. Rollins shot twenty-two rabbits and Perkins shot one. Dusk was beginning to creep upon the hills when Perkins cunningly led the way to the cache of Gustavus Adolphus.

Rollo's dogs saw it first and sprang toward it with glad yelps. Rollo followed his dogs eagerly. Si trailing warily behind. The dogs got within about six feet of the big-eyed Gustavus Adolphus and then stopped. Their tails fell and Rollo was amazed to see them turn about and dash madly off in the opposite direction from the rabbit.

"What ails them dern dogs?" whispered Rollo, as he skulked through the brush. Then suddenly, the huge rabbit burst upon his view, its eyes boring him fiercely and its ears quivering in the wind. Rollo's gun sprang to his shoulder and he let go both barrels.

When the smoke cleared away, he was startled to see Gustavus Adolphus still erect and undaunted, with eyes shining defiantly, notwithstanding the absence of one ear. With trembling fingers Rollo reloaded his trusty weapon and fired two more charges at the rabbit. Again, when the smoke cleared Gustavus Adolphus was erect and defiant, his great eyes still glaring evilly.

Fear gripped his heart as he fired the third double charge, and then, when the smoke cleared and the monster rabbit was still undisturbed and seemingly animated, Rollo dropped his gun and fled from the scene with a yell. Night was falling apace and Rollo tripped several times before he gained Pompton Turnpike. He had an uncanny feeling that something was behind him, and, sure enough, as he raced down the hill and happened to glance over his shoulder he saw that huge rabbit bounding after him with mighty leaps.

Never before in his life did Rollo Rollins hit up such a terrific pace. Those gleaming eyes of the pursuing rabbit seemed to burn into his very soul. As he raced through the quiet lanes of Little Falls Rollins shed his coat and waistcoat, looking back once more and again hitting a higher clip when he saw the bounding rabbit still on his trail.

Reports from Wayne indicate that Rollins passed through that village at inhuman speed, now and then splitting the welkin with a yell of agony. Sparks flew from his shoe as he passed through Pompton, Pompton Plains and Midvale. As he approached Greenwood Lake he was little more than a shadow of his former self. Flesh had melted from him by the pound.

Approaching the Whitehorn Inn, Rollins was all in. With one wild yell for help he dropped on the roadside. He was carried into the inn by tender hands, but when he came to, there was that haunting rabbit sitting on a chair, glaring venomously. Again Rollo swooned but when he revived under a liberal application of applejack the truth was revealed to him.

The wire noose was still fast upon the ankle, the other end of the wire cincheting the middle of Gustavus Adolphus. Is it any wonder that the breast of Rollo Rollins has become a furnace of awful hate?

Collection of Orr Kids.

One of the stories John Burroughs, the aged naturalist, loves to tell has to do with a friend of his named Orr. On one of his trips Mr. Burroughs happened to be in the town where Mr. Orr lives. Meeting him in the street Mr. Burroughs insisted that his friend should accompany him to the hotel for luncheon. As they were eating Mr. Burroughs inquired if his friend was not interested in any specialty.

"I think," said the naturalist, "every man ought to have a collection of some kind. It adds zest to life."

"Oh, yes," said his friend, "I have quite a collection. I am interested in flowers. Come home with me and I'll show them to you."

As they approached the Orr home six fine, healthy children, playing on the lawn, ran to meet their father.

"These," said Mr. Orr, with a twinkle in his eye, "form my collection of orchids. Ain't they grand specimens?"—New York Press.

All Right But the Name.

It is an army tradition that the soldier shall grumble at the commissariat, but this particular complainant seems to have had a fair case.

"Any complaints, corporal?" said the Colonel, making one morning a personal inspection.

"Yes, sir. Taste that, sir," said the corporal, promptly.

The Colonel put the liquid to his lips.

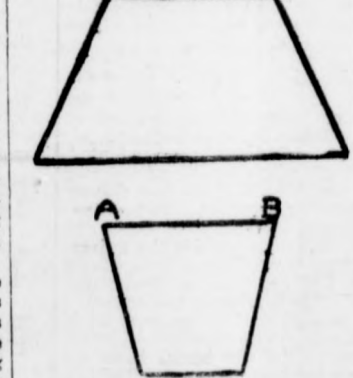

"Why," he said, "that's the best soup I ever tasted."

"Yes, sir," said the corporal, "but the cook calls it coffee."

Surely in a Bad Way.

There was a congressman who failed to show up for a vote on the tariff bill. He was not paired and his absence was unaccountable. He leisurely strolled into the house the next week and was at once hailed over the coals for his dereliction. "Why, I couldn't come," said he; "my health was givin' way. I had three doctors 'umple' me chist at wanst, and they 'umple in sayin' that me whole system with rekin' with insomnia."

You Can't Rely on Your Eyes.

An Optical Illusion.

Here is a method by which an optical illusion of length is plainly shown: Judged by appearances the line A B in the larger figure is considerably longer than the line A B below it, but tested by measurement they are exactly equal.

A Dull Winter.

A New Yorker at one of the Jersey winter resorts had occasion to complain of the service in the dining-room.

"Waiter!" he called out sternly, one evening, "how much longer have I got to sit here without my dinner? I've been here a full hour."

"You've got nothin' on me, sir!" responded the waiter. "I've been here since seven this morning. Kinder tressome, ain't it?"—Puck.

BARNES TO GET LEAVE OF ABSENCE NEXT YEAR. OTHER FACULTY CHANGES

Professor N. W. Barnes, head of the department of English Composition, has been granted a leave of absence from the university for next year. Mr. G. R. Nicholson, instructor in English Composition, will be the acting head of the department during Professor Barnes' absence.

Prof. Barnes has not completed his plans for next year yet, but he expects to leave Greencastle about July 1. He will devote a part of the summer to the preparation of some articles and then will visit several colleges to pick up ideas about the teaching of English Composition. After Christmas he and Mrs. Barnes will sail for Europe to spend the rest of the time there.

There will be other changes in the faculty next year. According to arrangements made with the trustees, Prof. R. B. von KleinSmid is expected to return to the department of psychology. Prof. A. F. Caldwell will be back after a year's leave of absence. He has spent the time in Europe. Prof. Aldis Huchens expects to spend the first half of next year in Harvard returning here for the second semester.

NEXT SEMESTER'S OFF-DAY SATURDAY INSTEAD OF MONDAY. SAY PROFS.

Again the faculty has changed the week-end vacation from Monday to Saturday. The action was taken yesterday in a meeting of the faculty when the matter was brought up by Prof. Longden, the chairman of the schedule committee. The ruling will take effect at the beginning of the first semester next year.

Some such action as this has been taken several times by the faculty but the matter has always been reconsidered at the request of the student body or because the plans were found to be impracticable.

Miss Mary Stucky, ex-'14, who was a guest at the Phi Gam formal, returned to her home in Gosport after a brief visit with the Thetas.

PURDUE WINS FROM DEPAUW SCORE 7 TO 2

HEAVY HITTING BOILERMAKERS DRIVE METHODIST HURLER FROM THE MOUND IN GAME PLAYED ON THE LAFAYETTE FIELD THURSDAY AFTERNOON—DEPAUW MAKES SEVEN ERRORS.

DEPAUW FIRST TO SCORE

Bunching hits off Ford in the first and third innings and batting like fiends, Purdue slipped one over on the Old Gold ball team in a game played in Lafayette yesterday and handed them a defeat by a score of 7 to 2.

DePauw drew first blood when Brudner, the first man up walked and scored a minute later on Lewis' long hit to right. Purdue, however, came back strong in their half, when they got to Ford for three hits, which coupled with two errors, let three Boilermakers over the pan.

This ended the scoring until the fourth when the Purdueites again got to Ford for three hits, which together with Harris' error, let over four more markers, and sent Ford to the bench. Sisson taking his place on the mound.

DePauw's second score came in the ninth when Rowan hit to right but was doubled a minute later when McClain hit to George. With two down Moore lammed a long one over short and Brubaker hit a hot one over first sending Rowan to second. Sisson came up with a long hit to left field scoring Moore and sending Brubaker to third.

But Brudner's grounder to Kinzer a minute later ended the game.

For DePauw Moore, Brubaker and Bridges played the best games, while Weaver and Finn starred for the Boilermakers. Following is a box score:

DePauw	A.B.R.H.P.O.A.E.
